Year 4 news
28.06.13 Issue number 37
This week's editors:
Danny and Louis

Best bits of this week (as chosen by the editors)

Hi, Kool Dudes and Dudettes!!

This week we went to the Royal Institution! It was really fun. At the end there was a show where we saw a lot of experiments. We have also been writing about something going wrong. In maths, we did some really cool work, we had to design boxes that would fit 36 Maltesers (each square=a Malteser) then after we got to eat them. (The Maltesers, not the squares!!) In guided reading, on the ipads we've been researching Lego. There are some really awesome pics!! Even an impossible Lego shape!! Were all enjoying our last 3 WEEKS of school, and were looking forward to the Science Museum!! It sounds cool!!

See youall later!!

Year 4 reminders and requests

Have you got any great books to share with the class? It would be fantastic if we built up a list of fabulous reads for the long sunny (hopefully!) days of the summer holiday! Write a review and see it published on the Blog section of Year 4!

Thanks to all the adults who came with us to the Royal Institution. We got to see the famous physicist Brian Cox, filming in Michael Faraday's laboratory for Australian TV! See the pictures of our exciting day, Science Museum, where we have been lucky enough to enough to book time in the hands-on Launchpad activity zone, is next Tuesday, 2nd July. If you can come, please let me know, either in person or via email.

My email - tom@eleanorpalmer.camden.sch.uk

Important dates coming up

Science Museum Tuesday 2nd July

Sports Day Tuesday 9th July

Monster times tables test Tuesday 16th July

28th June 2013

I feel I have really got to know Michael Faraday!

Your homework for this week is to be handed in on Wednesday 3rd July.

1. Use Arithmagons (Multiplication) on www.interactive-resources.co.uk to zap some factors and multiples!

   Miss Frood's Massive times tables test is only a few weeks away! Brush up on any tables you need to – this week try your 6 and 0.6 times table!

2. For your LITERACY homework this week, your challenge is to write a piece of writing full of suspense! Use the four things that we used in our Royal Institution mystery stories to help you out:
   - a change in a place
   - a change in the weather
   - a change in nature
   - introduce a mysterious character!

   You could set it somewhere well know to you, so that changing the details isn't too tricky!

3. Spelling _ cian! Think of people whose job title ends in _cian. It makes the same sound as _tion, but is used when the word refers to a job.

4. A thinking homework – what do you think of when you think about FAME.

Please write me a short note in your book telling me how you found your homework.

Mr Gibson

Tickbox for completed homework:

Maths

Literacy

Reading record entry 1

Reading record entry 2

Reading record entry 3

Spelling

Thinking about MUSIC